PATAGONIA WILDLIFE SAFARI

Dates: 17th Feb 2018 to 24th Feb, 2018

Join Wildlife Photographer and Adventure Traveler Kiran Khanzode to an iconic place, Patagonia, at the bottom of the world. Experience and “enjoy” sub-antarctic weather, hike and travel in some of the most exotic and well-recognized landscapes in the world and photograph endemic species of the region. If you are lucky, you might be walking with the Apex predator of the region, The Puma (Mountain Lion). With me at the helm and with a proven track record of finding Pumas, rest assured, you will be treated to a “once-in-a-lifetime” trip and experiences that will blow your mind. Patagonia is one of the most sought after destinations in the world for any Nature Explorer. My trip includes a mix of everything (hiking, road travel, wildlife and bird photography). This trip is meant for the extreme adventurer, the bravehearts that can withstand everything Nature might throw at them in 1 day (all four seasons). Accommodations will be in luxurious locations, as always.
